June 25, 2010—The Junior League of San Jose is recruiting new members! Join us for an Open House on June 29th at 6:30 pm or August 14th at 9 am.

San Jose, California – June 25, 2010 - The Junior League of San Jose is currently accepting new members for their 2010-2011 Provisional Class. Each year, the Junior League of San Jose opens its doors to women of the Silicon Valley who want to become involved in an organization that not only makes a difference in the lives of hundreds of San Jose children, but provides opportunities for personal growth, leadership and lifelong friendship.

Members of the Junior League of San Jose have the opportunity to explore different community projects, internal administrative roles, fundraising opportunities, leadership opportunities, service on the Board of Directors and more. Our volunteer and financial resources support helping children enter elementary school ready to learn and thrive.

"The Junior League of San Jose continues to be the volunteer organization of choice for women because of the wide range of growth opportunities we offer," says Ann-Marie Meacham, the 2010-2011 President of the Junior League of San Jose. "From hands-on work in the community, to developing leadership skills to making life-long friends with like-minded women, the Junior League meets women's needs from all walks of life, in all life stages."

There are still two more opportunities to attend an Open House and learn more about the Junior League of San Jose: June 29th at 6:30 p.m. and August 14th at 9:00 a.m, at the JLSJ headquarters: 1615 Dry Creek Road in San Jose. Interested women who are 21 or older can register to attend an open house at www.joinjlsj.org.

About the Junior League of San Jose

The Junior League is an organization of women committed to promoting voluntarism, developing the potential of women, and to improving the community through the effective action and leadership of trained volunteers.
